Where Can I Go OnLine To Find What I Need?

Sir Winston Churchill Secondary School Library

Google is great but how many times have you spent hours searching for something, only to come up empty handed or with sites of questionable accuracy? There are a lot of other terrific resources “out there” that you can access for up-to-date, accurate information.

This brochure is designed to help you find some of them.

Knowledge Ontario

These databases are similar to e-Library and are available from school or home. Use these databases from Thomson Gale and EBSCO to search for information in hundreds of resources such as newspapers, magazines, reference books, maps, pictures, and audio transcripts.

At School:

Go to Favourites in Internet Explorer. In the folder #1 Research Stop select Knowledge Ontario Direct Access.

From Home:

Home access is available in the Research Link of the DSBN Learning Gateway at www.dsbn.edu.on.ca. See "But What if I'm At Home?" in this brochure for detailed access instructions.

Thomson Gale password: trillium
EBSCO User I.D.: dsbn
Password: ebsco

Grolier Online

A database similar to ELibrary
Access is through the website:

<http://go-ontario.grolier.com>

UserName: dsbniag

Password: dsbn3401

But What if I'm At Home?

*Try the DSBN Learning Gateway

<http://www.dsbn.edu.on.ca> and click on the "Learning Gateway" icon near the upper left of the page. Select "For Students" and be taken to a Table of Contents of information divided by subject area. (Also accessible at school)

Research will allow you access to several encyclopedias, dictionaries and public library web sites as well as the Knowledge Ontario databases.

Visit Canadiana for all things Canadian.

Problem Solving offers links to sites designed to challenge your puzzle solving abilities.

Explore the various Subject areas for links to sites in that area (eg. History, Science, Arts)

Career Planning will help you write a resume or find a job.

For Teens provides access to information aimed at teenagers.

Videos

CBC News In Review:

These videos and dvds have "been designed by teachers for an integrated curriculum and are an effective learning tool for Canadian studies, global studies, history, social science, media literacy, English and E.S.L. Each News in Review segment is carefully crafted to give students and teachers a timely and concise examination of Canadian and world issues. Footage from CBC's archives helps provide historical context." See Mrs. Michalko or your classroom teacher for access to this resource.

MediaNet

The District School Board of Niagara houses a video and dvd collection which includes approximately 15,000 titles on a broad range of topics at all grade levels.

Mrs. Michalko or your classroom teacher can help you determine what titles may suit your needs. Ordering should be done through your classroom teacher.
